

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A significant change in the static angular position can be produced from a small physical displacement of the flexible member. The flexible member 12 in a magnetic head unit 95 is stressed for adjusting the static angular position. Simultaneously, the stressed areas 14 are irradiated by a laser beam LA.